1. Welcome to the course

Welcome and congratulations on gaining your place at the University of Central Lancashire.

Your choice of taking up the degree of BA (hons) Business Management and Chinese will provide an opportunity for you to develop your academic, cultural, linguistic and economic relationships with the rising superpower.

China increasingly drives world business and politics. As the world's 2nd largest and fastest growing economy, the largest trading nation, China has become the new land of opportunities. The richness of its civilization continues to attract many students. Learning the language is certainly a way of understanding its culture. Besides, many of the Pacific Rim economies, for example, Singapore, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Malaysia, have large Chinese populations. If the economies of these areas continue to flourish, more and more Chinese specialists will be highly sought after in the job market. This course will enable you to achieve a high level of linguistic competence in Mandarin and the study of Chinese culture and society in depth, along with expertise in international business and strategic management, thus give you an edge in the competitive job market. I hope, therefore, that your time with us will be both personally fulfilling, adding a truly international aspect to your degree, and also useful in later life.

This Handbook introduces the staff you will meet and the range of university services and facilities available to assist you over the duration of your programme. It contains information specific to your course as well as important information which is common to all students in the School of Journalism, Language and Communication.

It is our hope that you will enjoy your degree study as well as participating in the many other activities which university life provides. With real commitment to the subject, adaptability in approach and an enthusiasm to participate, you will enjoy the full support and benefit the most from the knowledge and experience offered by UCLAN.

May I take this opportunity to wish you every success in your studies and a happy and successful time with us.

Dr. Sunny Xin LIU
Senior Lecturer
Course Leader

1.1 Rationale, aims and learning outcomes of the course

The overall aim of the programme is to develop knowledge, understanding, skills (including Chinese language skills), competences and personal qualities, which will allow the student to succeed in a global business environment, with particular reference to China.

In particular, it aims:

- to equip the student with a broad range of business, Chinese language and transferable skills.
- to equip the student with a knowledge and understanding of international business operating in or with China, including an awareness of the interaction of business and the economic, technological, social and institutional dimensions of the international environment in which it operates, as well as an awareness and sensitivity to cross cultural communication issues.
- to develop the intellectual capacity, analytical powers and skills of students.
- to give students a sense of independence and confidence as a learner

Learning outcomes:

A knowledge and understanding of:

- A1. the international business environment
- A2. the nature of international business activity in the global economy
- A3. the significance of effective strategic management in the sustaining of competitive advantage.
- A4. China's geographical location, its population distribution and growth, the social structures, ethnic diversity, the relation between the individual and the State, the family and the broader community;
- A5. recent economic and political transition in China, its relations with the international community, and their implications for the business environment of domestic and foreign firms;
- A6. various aspects of contemporary Chinese Society, especially those in multi-national companies operating in China
- A7. the concept of face and guanxi, negotiation styles and other etiquettes in the Chinese world of business

The above named represent the team of lecturers directly responsible for the teaching of your course in year 1. Any problems of an academic nature should be taken up with the lecturer concerned in the first instance.

1.3 Expertise of staff

Course Leader: Dr. Sunny Xin Liu (BL, BA, MBA, PhD) has been an Associate Professor in translation since 2007. She had nine translated books published and wrote a column for China Daily for two years, she was also a contracted translator/interpreter for a number of international organizations in Beijing, including the World Bank, UNICEF, EU-China Policy Dialogue, British Council, and so on. She holds a certificate in teaching Chinese as a foreign language since 1996, and was awarded fellowship of the Higher Education Academy in 2012. Sunny teaches all year groups content-based modules about China. Her research area is China's cultural diplomacy.

Dr. Jiayi Wang, Lecturer in Chinese Language and Studies. Jiayi holds a PhD from the University of Warwick on professional intercultural interaction which combines elements of pragmatics, sociolinguistics, cross-cultural psychology, communication studies and translation and interpreting studies. She teaches modules on translation theory and practice, and interpreting and intercultural communication. Jiayi received her MA degree in Applied Linguistics (Interpreting and Translation) from Beijing Foreign Studies University. She has been a professional interpreter and translator since 2006, working for a number of organizations including Deutsche Bank, Fortune Magazine and Warwick Manufacturing Group. Jiayi has published research articles on intercultural pragmatics and comparative law as well as professional translations, and was editing a ministerial journal on international exchange. Her main research interests are pragmatics, intercultural interaction, and the interface between intercultural communication and translation and interpreting studies.

Carol Guanyu HUANG (BA, MA), Associate Lecturer in Chinese Language. After graduating from Beijing Normal University with a bachelor degree in Chinese Language and Literature in 2008, Carol obtained two MA degrees in 2011 – in Linguistics and Applied Linguistics from Nanjing University, and also in Teaching Chinese as a Foreign Language (TCFL) at the University of Sheffield. Carol has taught in the University of Sheffield Chinese language for specialists and non-specialists. Currently in the University of Central Lancashire, she teaches all year groups from 1st year undergraduate students to final year undergraduate students in three major areas: Business Chinese Conversation, Chinese Literacy and Advanced Chinese. Her academic interests include second language acquisition and language variation in speech community.

1.4 Academic Advisor

You will be assigned an Academic Advisor who will provide additional academic support during the year. They will be the first point of call for many of the questions that you might have during the year. Your Academic Advisor will be able to help you with personal development, including developing skills in self-awareness, reflection and action planning.

1.5 Administration details

Campus Admin Services provides academic administration support for students and staff and are located in the following hubs which open from 8.45am until 5.15pm Monday to Thursday and until 4.00pm on Fridays. The hub can provide general assistance and advice regarding specific processes such as extenuating circumstances, extensions and appeals.

1.6 Communication

The University expects you to use your UCLan email address and check regularly for messages from staff. If you send us email messages from other addresses they risk being filtered out as potential spam and discarded unread.

Staff can be contacted by phone, e-mail or via the message trays on the ground floor of the Fylde Building. Please note that essays and assignments should not be left in the open message trays. In addition, each staff has dedicated office hours so students can come and discuss various issues. If you need to see a staff outside the office hour, it is advisable to make an appointment so save you a waste journey.

You will also be asked to leave your e-mail address and telephone number so that you can be contacted easily should it be necessary. It is important that you update your contact details with your tutors.

There is also a notice board on the first floor of Adelphi Building, outside the office of the Confucius Institute. Information regarding cultural events, HSK tests, timetable changes and exam arrangement will be posted on the notice boards. Please get into the habit of checking the notice boards on a regular basis.

1.7 External Examiner

The University has appointed an External Examiner to your course who helps to ensure that the standards of your course are comparable to those provided at other higher education institutions in the UK. The name of this person, their position and home institution can be found below. If you wish to make contact with your External Examiner, you should do this through your Course Leader and not directly.

Dr. Minjie Xing
Senior Lecturer in Chinese

2. Structure of the course

2.1 Overall structure

All full time students are required to take six modules in a year. The structure of the programme is as follows:

Level 4 Core Modules

Module Code	Module Title	Size	Credit	Sem 1 or 2
CL1201	Basic Chinese: Literacy	1	20	year
CL1202	Basic Business Chinese Conversation	1	20	year
CL1203	Introduction to Contemporary China	1	20	year
BU1006	The Business Environment	1.5	30	year
HR1005	Introduction to Business Functions	1.5	30	year

You must complete all core modules on your programme satisfactorily in order to progress to Stage 2.

Level 5 Core Modules

Module Code	Module Title	Size	Credit	Sem 1 or 2

Please note that all modules will be assessed. You are expected to attempt all required assessments for each module for which you are registered, and to do so at the times scheduled unless authorised extensions, special arrangements for disability, or extenuating circumstances allow you to defer your assessment.

2.2 Modules available

Each module is a self-contained block of learning with defined aims, learning outcomes and assessment. A standard module is worth 20 credits. It equates to the learning activity expected from one sixth of a full-time undergraduate year. Modules may be developed as half or double modules with credit allocated up to a maximum of 120 credits per module.

Please see the codes and titles of all modules available listed in 2.1. More detailed information will be provided through Module Descriptor and Module Information Pack by the module tutor.

2.3 Course requirements

Students need to obtain a pass mark in all compulsory modules and the requisite number of option modules (see course structure and module list above).

2.4 Progression Information

Discussions about your progression through the course normally take place in February each year. It is an opportunity for you to make plans for your study over the next academic year. The course team will tell you about the various modules / combinations available and you will both agree on the most appropriate (and legal) course of study for you.

2.5.2 Expected hours of study

20 credits is a standard module size and equals 200 notional learning hours.

The normal amount of work involved in achieving a successful outcome to your studies is to study for 10 hours per each credit you need to achieve – this includes attendance at UCLan and time spent in private study, explained in detail in the MIP.

It is crucial that you are prepared before you attend each class so you can follow and join in all the activities. In this way you can get more out of each contact hour. In addition, you will be expected to carry out homework and self-study in the Worldwise Language Learning Centre or via the Blackboard. It is advisable for you to spend some time on Chinese language everyday, especially during long holidays.

There are many Chinese students on the campus. You can make friends with them and form study pairs. It is the best way to develop your fluency and your ability to cope with new and/or colloquial expressions.

As for your content-based modules, the class contact is two hours per week: one hour for lecture and one for seminar. Attend the lectures, prepare for the seminars, identify issues that most interest you and explore them. Make yourself a frequent visitor to the library. The golden rule is the more you read, the more you are able to synthesize your reading critically, the easier your essays and dissertation will be.

2.5.3 Attendance Requirements

You are required to attend all timetabled learning activities for each module. Notification of illness or exceptional requests for leave of absence must be made to:

C and T Hub. Students should report non-attendance to the hub email – CandTHubAttendance@uclan.ac.uk or by telephoning the hub on

01772 891994 or 01772 891995

If you have not gained the required authorisation for leave of absence, do not respond to communications from the University and if you are absent for four weeks or more, you may be deemed to have withdrawn from the course. If this is the case, then the date of withdrawal will be recorded as the last day of attendance.

Each time you are asked to enter your details on SAM you must remember that the University has a responsibility to keep information up to date and that you must only enter your own details on the system. To enter any other names would result in inaccurate records and be dishonest. Any student who is found to make false entries can be disciplined under the student guide to regulations.

3. Approaches to teaching and learning

3.1 Learning and teaching methods

In general we have a commitment to the intellectual development of students. It is the aim of this programme to impart a knowledge base, extend students' capacities for analysis, critical awareness and evaluation, and develop intellectual and personal skills through discussion, debate and argument of issues arising from the materials studied. In terms of language teaching, we adopt a communicative approach to language teaching, placing emphasis on the acquisition of a high-level of communicative competence in the foreign language. In addition, the programme seeks to develop important transferable skills — for instance problem-solving, presentation and team-working skills — which can be applied to a wide range of situations.

We believe that an understanding of culture and cultural contexts is important to an evaluation of customer needs and expectations in business, as well as to an evaluation of its impacts upon a culture.

We stress the value of the active engagement of its students in the learning process. The WorldWise Centre, based in the whole of the left-hand side of the second floor of Fylde Building, is viewed as an essential tool in our student-centred approach to language teaching.

Both our language and cultural modules draw on group and student-centered activities, discussions, role-plays and case studies to maximize the teaching and learning experience. In all cases, we emphasize an interactive approach to our courses, where student participation and personal/communicative skills building form integral parts of the learning process. At all levels, there is considerable scope to develop communication skills via activities specially designed for pair and small group work.

As you progress through the course programme, the tasks increase in complexity and difficulty, incorporating problem-solving activities and case study analyses which call for higher-order skills in order to evaluate, analyze, synthesize and reach conclusions.

3.2 Study skills

You may meet with difficulties in your academic assignments over the course of your university life. Wiser provides 1 to 1 tutorials for specific advice or help on your academic skills and language. A WISER tutor can help you by identifying strategies to overcome difficulties through 1-to-1 sessions. Wiser also run free study skills workshops and have resources available on blackboard, please see the website for details: https://portal.uclan.ac.uk/webapps/portal/frameset.jsp?tab_group_id=33_1/

In our experience, there are still many students who do not take full advantage of the services provided by WISER. For example, essays have been failed because of a lack of clear structure and inadequate referencing; inappropriate delivery during oral presentations; and serious errors resulting from inadequate dictionary use. These are just a few examples of how WISER can help you to improve and achieve better grades. We would therefore strongly recommend that you use every opportunity to use WISER as part of your study techniques.

If you need further information on any of the above, please contact:

WISER <http://www.uclan.ac.uk/students/study/wiser/index.php>

3.3 Learning resources

3.3.1 Learning Information Services (LIS)

Extensive resources are available to support your studies provided by LIS – library and IT staff. Take advantage of the free training sessions designed to enable you to gain all the skills you need for your research and study.

LIS

https://portal.uclan.ac.uk/webapps/portal/frameset.jsp?tab_tab_group_id= 25 1

3.3.2 Electronic Resources

LIS provide access to a huge range of electronic resources – e-journals and databases, e-books, images and texts.

The Worldwide Learning Centre, based on the second floor of the Fylde Building, is an important part of the School's initiative aimed at promoting and popularising the understanding of world cultures and languages among UCLan students and staff and the wider community of the North West of England.

Open year-round the Centre offers advice and support to anybody interested in world languages and cultures, travelling, and working or studying abroad. It also provides a comfortable place to meet and make friends with speakers of different languages in a welcoming environment.

The Centre is the place to:

- Access extensive resources including self-study books, dictionaries and digital video and audio material in a variety of languages;
- Borrow items such as digital voice recorders, video cameras, projectors and audio headsets;
- Access PCs equipped with specialist language learning software (including Rosetta Stone), digital video and audio recording apps and international TV;
- Find out about opportunities to apply for a travel bursary for studying or working abroad;
- Apply for short-term internships and work experience placements;
- Attend culture and language celebration events, shows, exhibitions and guest talks;
- Use our state-of-the-art interpreting and video conferencing facilities for international meetings.

Our website (www.uclan.ac.uk/worldwise) currently offers information on a number of languages and their associated cultures. Both the Centre and the website play an important role in offering users information and advice relating to the learning and understanding of international cultures and languages including Arabic, Chinese, English, French, German, Greek, Italian, Japanese, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Turkish and Urdu.

If you want to find more about the Worldwide Learning Centre or its activities, please visit the Worldwide Learning Centre Helpdesk or contact Sofia Anysiadou (Worldwide Learning Centre Resources Coordinator) on 01772 893155 or by email to worldwise@uclan.ac.uk.

Confucius Institute

Funded by the Office of Chinese Language Council International, and in partnership with Beijing International Studies University, UCLan Confucius Institute was established in September 2008. It is a testament to the University's commitment to the teaching of Chinese language and culture. Over the past few years, UCLan's Chinese team has increased dramatically.

- Feixia Yu – Director of Confucius Institute, UCLAN
- Ling Gao – Co-Director of Confucius Institute, BISU
- Justine Moloney – Administrator
- Hannah Xu – Administrator
- Jinen Yu, tutor, secondee from China
- Laihui Song, tutor, secondee from China
- Qian Yin, tutor, secondee from China
- Shuyang Wang, tutor, secondee from China
- Jing Su, taiji teacher, secondee from China
- Xueting Luo, dance teacher, secondee from China
- Haiyang Wang, volunteer, secondee from China

The Confucius Institute is located on the 1rd floor of Adelphi Building, and houses a reference library plus a 50" touchscreen monitor with interactive Chinese culture software. Whether you are interested in Chinese language or Chinese culture, the Institute's resource centre can help you to further your knowledge and interests.

UCLan Confucius Institute is a registered HSK Centre, one of only 6 centres in the UK and the only one in the North West. UCLan CI hosts many Chinese language and culture activities, including screenings of Chinese films, Chinese culture events and performances, study visits to China, tai chi classes, Chinese calligraphy classes, guest lectures and Chinese speaking competitions are just a few of the events that take place throughout the academic year. Students have many opportunities to enjoy the delights of Chinese culture.

In addition, UCLan CI has selected committed students to receive CI Scholarships. As part of the university's drive to internationalize the curriculum, a travel bursary was created to help students in undertaking field work, projects or study tours outside the UK.

Students who demonstrate a genuine interest in Chinese language and culture by active participation in such activities offered by UCLan Confucius Institute will be given priority for scholarships and travel bursaries for study in China.

3.4 Personal development planning

Personal Development Planning is managed through the Personal Tutoring System in line with university-wide requirement. Students are assigned a Personal tutor at the beginning of the programme and informed their tutor's office hours for regular meetings.

In addition, PDP is very much embedded in the teaching and assessment of both disciplines in this programme, particularly in the case of language based modules, which develop, practice, monitor and assess a wide range of skills at all levels. These include written and verbal communication, individual presentation, group work, public speaking, interpreting, research, time-management, and negotiation and so on.

The programme employs a varied diet of assessment, including portfolio assessment and placement reports, which are powerful tools that help students to reflect upon their skills, identify areas of strength and weakness, plan for development and demonstrate evidence of actions. There is a strong focus on developing the individual's employability and lifelong learning skills. This is especially reflected in the year-long placement involving studying and living in a different culture.

3.5 Preparing for your career

Your future is important to us, so to make sure that you achieve your full potential whilst at university and beyond, your course has been designed with employability learning integrated into it. This is not extra to your degree, but an important part of it which will help you to show future employers just how valuable your degree is. These “Employability Essentials” take you on a journey of development that will help you to write your own personal story of your time at university:

- To begin with, you will explore your identity, your likes and dislikes, the things that are important to you and what you want to get out of life.
- Later, you will investigate a range of options including jobs and work experience, postgraduate study and self-employment,
- You will then be ready to learn how to successfully tackle the recruitment process.

You will be able to record your journey using Pebblepad, the university’s e-portfolio system, which will leave you with a permanent record of all the fantastic things you have achieved during your time at UCLan.

It’s your future: take charge of it!

Careers offers a range of support for you including:-

- career and employability advice and guidance appointments
- support to find work placements, internships, voluntary opportunities, part-time employment and live projects
- workshops, seminars, modules, certificates and events to develop your skills

Daily drop in service available from 09:00-17:00 for CV checks and initial careers information. For more information come along and visit the team (in Foster building near the main entrance) or access our careers and employability resources via the Student Portal.

4. Student Support

The ‘i’ is a central Student Information Centre and your first point of contact. You can obtain information on a wide range of topics including Council Tax Exemption Certificates, Bank and Confirmation of Study Letters, Portable Financial Credits, (continuing students only), Printing and Printer Credit, UCLan Cards, the ‘i’ shop and UCLan Financial Support Bursary (first year students only).

4.1 Academic Advisors

The Academic Advisor System is a nationwide initiative set in place to help you not only settle in to life in Higher Education but also to better understand what is expected from you as a student. You will have a personal tutor assigned to you when you arrive who will provide support throughout your time at UCLan. He/she will be able to help you with any academic or personal concerns you may have regarding your course and should be your first point of contact if you wish to discuss any problems or issues (academic or not) which you are faced with while at UCLan.

Your Academic Advisor will listen to your problems and then advise you as best they can on how to resolve it. As we are academic staff, this may mean we need set up an appointment for you with someone else who is better equipped to help you such as Student Accommodation, Student Services etc. More information can be found in the School's handbook – 'Student Guide to the Academic Advisor System'.

Do make sure that you make a note of your academic advisor's name and contact details. (You will be able to find these on myUCLan). You should find that he/she organises a meeting early in the year, but if you want to get in touch with him/her at any time, do not hesitate to do so. Your academic advisor will always do his/her best to answer your queries as soon as possible.

4.2 Students with disabilities

If you have a disability that may affect your studies, please either contact the Disability Advisory Service - disability@uclan.ac.uk - or let one of the course team know as soon as possible. With your agreement information will be passed on to the Disability Advisory Service. The University will make reasonable adjustments to accommodate your needs and to provide appropriate support for you to complete your study successfully. Where necessary, you will be asked for evidence to help identify appropriate adjustments.

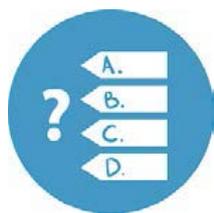

Assessment arrangements for students with a disability

Arrangements are made for students who have a disability/learning difficulty for which valid supporting evidence can be made available. Contact the Disability Adviser for advice and information, disability@uclan.ac.uk

4.3 Students' Union One Stop Shop

If your course is for students not studying on the main campus please include the following : – as one of the thousands of students who are not studying on the main UCLan campus in Preston, the Students Union is still your union, please check <http://www.uclansu.co.uk/> for full details on what we may be running in your partner institution.

5. Assessment

5.1 Assessment Strategy

Group and individual presentations, portfolios, essays, reports, projects, summary and critical commentary, dossier, oral, aural and written tests and exams, dissertation

Employability skills are assessed in the learning log, which includes job-search, letters of application, CV and interview role play.

5.2 Notification of assignments and examination arrangements

You will be notified of the requirements for individual assessments and their respective deadlines for submission / examination arrangements within module information pack, which is also available through blackboard.

Normally the deadline for submission of assignments is 17.00 on the date set (or 16.00 if this falls on a Friday)

Most assignments have individual marking criteria which will be made available to you by the individual module tutors within module information packs and/or via blackboard.

5.3 Referencing

All quotations must be referenced, as must paraphrases of someone else's ideas ("As Smith argues...."). We recommend that you use the Harvard referencing system, which is set out briefly below:

In the Harvard system, at every point in the text where reference to a document is made, its author's surname, the year of publication and the page number should be given in parenthesis, like this: (Perkins, 1973, p63). Internet sources need to be presented as follows: (author/owner/date accessed).

The bibliography should contain all the texts, which you have used in the preparation of your dissertation, even if you have not quoted from them. Works should be listed alphabetically in each section under the author's surname with full reference following.

The required information for books and articles is:

- author's surname (s) & initials
- date of publication
- title of publication
- place of publication
- publisher

Below are some examples, but please refer to the Library and Learning Resources web pages for future information.

a) Bibliography referencing for single authors looks like this:

Cutting, J. (2002) Pragmatics and Discourse: A Resource Book for Students, London: Routledge

b) Bibliography referencing for two authors looks like this:

Kang-Kwong, L. and P. Theodossia-Soula (2002) Telephone Calls: Unity and Diversity in Conversational Structure Across Language, Netherlands: John Benjamins

c) Bibliography referencing for three or more authors looks like this:

Schiffin, D., D. Tannen, D. Hamilton. and H. Ehernberger (2003) A Handbook on Discourse Analysis, London: Blackwell

d) Bibliography referencing for edited works looks like this:

Teubert, W. (ed.) (2004). Corpus Linguistics: Critical Concepts. London: Routledge

e) Bibliography referencing for journal works looks like this:

Guest, M. (2002) 'A critical checkbook for culture teaching and learning,' ELT Journal, Vol. 6/2, pp 154-161

f) Internet sources looks like this:

Economist Intelligence Unit, 'German Economic Data', The Economist, 25 May 2004, <<<http://www.economist.com/countries/Germany/profile.cfm?folder=Profile-Economic%20Data>>>[accessed 25 March 2009]

5.4 Confidential material

The nature of the personal projects you devise e.g. for your dissertation may require access to confidential information. Please be aware of your ethical and legal responsibilities to respect confidentiality and maintain the anonymity of individuals and organisations within assignments.

5.5 Cheating, plagiarism, collusion or re-presentation

Please refer to the information included in section 6.6 of the University Student Handbook for full definitions. The University uses an online Assessment Tool called Turnitin. A pseudo-Turnitin assignment will be set up using the School space on Blackboard to allow students to check as many drafts as the system allows before their final submission to the 'official' Turnitin assignment. Students are required to self-submit their own assignment on Turnitin and will be given access to the Originality Reports arising from each submission. In operating Turnitin, Schools must take steps to ensure that the University's requirement for all summative assessment to be marked anonymously is not undermined and therefore Turnitin reports should either be anonymised or considered separately from marking. Turnitin may also be used to assist with plagiarism detection and collusion, where there is suspicion about individual piece(s) of work.

You are required to sign a declaration indicating that individual work submitted for an assessment is your own.

If you attempt to influence the standard of the award you obtain through cheating, plagiarism or collusion, it will be considered as a serious academic and disciplinary offence as described within the Academic Regulations: G7 and the Assessment Handbook –

- Cheating is any deliberate attempt to deceive and covers a range of offences described in the Assessment Handbook.
- Plagiarism describes copying from the works of another person without suitably attributing the published or unpublished works of others. This means that all quotes, ideas, opinions, music and images should be acknowledged and referenced within your assignments.
- Collusion is an attempt to deceive the examiners by disguising the true authorship of an assignment by copying, or imitating in close detail another student's work - this includes with the other student's consent and also when 2 or more students divide the elements of an assignment amongst themselves and copy one another's answers. It does not include the normal situation in which you learn from your peers and share ideas, as this generates the knowledge and understanding necessary for each individual to independently undertake an assignment; nor should it be confused with group work on an assignment which is specifically authorised in the assignment brief.
- Re-presentation is an attempt to gain credit twice for the same piece of work.

The process of investigation and penalties which will be applied can be reviewed in the Assessment Handbook. If an allegation is found to be proven then the appropriate penalty will be implemented:

In the case of a single offence of cheating, plagiarism, collusion or re-presentation:

- the penalty will be 0% for the element of assessment, and an overall fail for the module.
- the plagiarised element of assessment must be resubmitted to the required standard and the mark for the module following resubmission will be restricted to the minimum pass mark.
- when it is detected for the first time on a resubmission for an already failed module, no further resubmission for the module will be permitted, and the appropriate fail grade will be awarded.

In the event of a repeat offence of cheating, plagiarism, collusion or re-presentation (irrespective of whether the repeat offence involves the same form of unfair means) on the same or any other module within the course:

- the appropriate penalty will be 0% for the module with no opportunity for re-assessment. This penalty does not preclude you being able to retake the module in a subsequent year.

The penalties will apply if you transfer from one UCLan course to another during your period of study and module credits gained on the former course are transferred to the current course. Contact the Students' Union Advice and Representation Centre by emailing: suadvice@uclan.ac.uk for support and guidance.

6. Classification of Awards

The University publishes the principles underpinning the way in which awards and results are decided in Academic Regulations. Decisions about the overall classification of awards are made by Assessment Boards through the application of the academic and relevant course regulations.

In simple terms an undergraduate honours degree classification is based on the highest classification:

1. The Average Percentage Mark (APM) of your level 5 and 6 modules (generally taken in years 2 and 3 of a full time course) weighted 30:70, or
2. Your Average Percentage Mark in year 3 only (ie your level 6 modules)

If the APM is near a borderline, 'at the discretion of the Assessment Board, students may be classified according to the academic judgement of the Assessment Board taking into account their overall profile and performance with the minimum requirement that:

1. A minimum of 3 modules (60 credits) at level 6 are in the classification band and
2. The APM is no lower than 2 percentage points below that required for the higher classification.'

In operating discretion for profiling Course Assessment Boards will use academic judgement and may refer to performance in core modules; the placement component, the dissertation/project or other factors which have been published to students.

7. Student Feedback

You can play an important part in the process of improving the quality of this course through the feedback you give. In addition to the ongoing discussion with the course team throughout the year, there are a range of mechanisms for you to feedback about your experience of teaching and learning. We aim to respond to your feedback and let you know of our plans for improvement.

The Students Union can support you in voicing your opinion, provide on-going advice and support, and encourage your involvement in all feedback opportunities. They will be requesting that you complete the National Student Survey (during semester 2 for students in their final year of study) or the UCLan Student Survey (all other students).

The Students' Union and University work closely together to ensure that the student voice is heard in all matters of student-life. We encourage students to provide constructive feedback throughout their time at university, through course reps, surveys and any other appropriate means,

The Union's Student Affairs Committee (SAC), members of Students' Council and School Presidents each have particular representative responsibilities, and are involved with decision making committees as high as the University Board. Therefore it is very important students engage with the democratic processes of the Students' Union and elect the students they see as most able to represent them.

7.1 Student Staff Liaison Committee meetings (SSLCs)

Details of the Protocol for the operation of SSLCs is included in section 8.2 of the University Student Handbook.

The purpose of a SSLC meeting is to provide the opportunity for course representatives to feedback to staff about the course, the overall student experience and to inform developments which will improve future courses. These meetings are normally scheduled once per semester. Your Course Leader will facilitate the meetings using Guidelines and provide a record of the meeting with any decisions and / or responses made and / or actions taken as a result of the discussions held. The meetings include discussion of items forwarded by course representatives, normally related to the following agenda items (dependent on time of year). Your Student Liaison Officer will be invited to attend and support the resolution of any issues. The course team encourage student feedback in all areas and recognise that additional items for discussion may also be raised at the meeting

- Update on actions completed since the last meeting
- Feedback about the previous year – discussion of external examiner's report; outcomes of National /UCLan student surveys.
- Review of enrolment / induction experience;
- Course organisation and management (from each individual year group, and the course overall);
- Experience of modules - teaching, assessment, feedback;
- Experience of academic support which may include e.g. Personal Development Planning, personal tutoring arrangements and The Card;
- Other aspects of University life relevant to student experience e.g. resources, IT, library;
- Any other issues raised by students or staff.

15. Personal Development Planning

Personal Development Planning is managed through the Personal Tutoring System in line with university-wide requirement. Students are assigned a Personal tutor at the beginning of the programme and informed their tutor's office hours for regular meetings.

In addition, PDP is very much embedded in the teaching and assessment of both disciplines in this programme, particularly in the case of language based modules, which develop, practice, monitor and assess a wide range of skills at all levels. These include written and verbal communication, individual presentation, group work, public speaking, interpreting, research, time-management, and negotiation and so on.

The programme employs a varied diet of assessment, including portfolio assessment and placement reports, which are powerful tools that help students reflect upon their skills, identify areas of strength and weakness, plan for development and demonstrate evidence of actions.

There is a strong focus on developing the individual's employability and lifelong learning skills. This is especially reflected in the year-long placement involving studying, working and living in a different culture.

16. Admissions criteria

Programme Specifications include minimum entry requirements, including academic qualifications, together with appropriate experience and skills required for entry to study. These criteria may be expressed as a range rather than a specific grade. Amendments to entry requirements may have been made after these documents were published and you should consult the University's website for the most up to date information.

Students will be informed of their personal minimum entry criteria in their offer letter.
