Graduation Ceremony

December 2022

Class of 2022

Welcome from our Vice-Chancellor

Today we come together to celebrate the achievements of all our new graduates. It is an opportunity for everyone who has supported you throughout your journey – your friends, family, fellow graduates and lecturers to congratulate you on your huge personal triumph and to wish you every success for the next exciting chapter of your life. It is also a chance for you to express your gratitude to everyone who has supported and encouraged you along the way.

Our ethos at the University of Central Lancashire is to help people to achieve their ambitions, to fulfil their potential and for us to play a part in transforming their lives. The skills, knowledge and practical experience that you have developed during your time at this University will have given you the best possible preparation for your future career.

Your time as a student here may have drawn to a close, but now we welcome you into our thriving alumni community, a global network of over 200,000 people. Our alumni are enjoying successful careers and having a positive impact across all areas of society throughout the world. It is hoped that your association with this University will continue to inspire you and enrich your life for many years to come.

Congratulations on your remarkable achievement, and have a happy, enjoyable and memorable day.

Professor Graham Baldwin
Vice-Chancellor

University Chancellor and UCLan graduate, Ranvir Singh

Ranvir was born in Preston in 1977. She was educated at Kirkham Grammar School and went to Lancaster University, where she undertook her Bachelor degree in Philosophy and Literature followed by a Master in Literature. She then completed a PGDip in Journalism at UCLan in 2000.

It was a chance remark that led her into the world of journalism. "I had thought about teaching, but I really do believe that one has to have a vocation for it and I also considered law but it would have been too costly. Then, I was chatting to a girl at the Sikh Temple in Preston who said a friend of hers had done English and was working for the BBC.

"I had never considered it but I knew my dad would have encouraged it. He passed away when I was nine but I remember he was a great believer in the news, no phones were answered in our house when the news was on and, even better, the best journalism course was in Preston at the University of Central Lancashire. No need to leave Lancashire. It felt like fate. That decided it."

During the Easter break of her final year of the PGDip in Broadcast Journalism, Ranvir secured a six-month contract with the BBC, before she had finished or passed her exams.

Following on from BBC Radio Lancashire, she worked her way through various producing, reporting, news reading and presenting roles for BBC Radio Manchester before moving to television. She joined BBC North West Tonight in 2004 as a reporter, becoming a permanent presenter of the show in 2007.

The award-winning presenter is now seen on our screens every weekday on Good Morning Britain as the Political Editor. Ranvir has fronted several ITV primetime factual series including Eat, Shop Save and Real Stories With Ranvir Singh. She is a regular guest on the channel's popular daytime programme This Morning and regularly presents ITV's News at Ten and the national Evening News. In 2020 she danced her way into the semi-finals of Strictly Come Dancing. She received a UCLan Honorary Fellowship in July 2013 for her contribution to broadcasting.

Life-Changing Opportunities

The University of Central Lancashire is the international, multi-campus university leading the way in modern learning today. We believe in helping people to seize every opportunity to flourish in education, at work and for life.

Thousands of our graduates tell us that their time as a student was transformational, changing the trajectories of their lives and opening doors to careers they had always dreamed of. Our long-standing mission to transform people's lives for the better is encapsulated in our historic motto, 'Ex solo ad solem' ('From the Earth to the Sun'), which calls on people to rise up and strive for success. It was first adopted by our forerunner, the Harris Institute, with the words featuring prominently in its emblem. Today it can be seen on our Coat of Arms.

The University of Central Lancashire officially came into being in 1992, but our roots go back much further. In fact, we've been transforming lives for nearly two centuries now. Our story began in 1828, when Joseph Livesey, a Preston-born philanthropist, played a lead role in establishing the Institution for the Diffusion of Knowledge, our distant predecessor. For a monthly subscription, people could enjoy access to a library and reading room, a small museum of natural history artefacts and a lively programme of thought-provoking lectures covering subjects as diverse as astronomy, electricity and 'vegetable physiology'.

Over the years that followed, the Institution's successors gradually began to offer more formalised courses and increased access to higher-level education as it evolved into the Harris Institute (1882-1956), Harris College (1956-1973), Preston Polytechnic (1973-1984), Lancashire Polytechnic (1984-1992) and eventually the University of Central Lancashire (1992 onwards).

If Joseph Livesey were around today, he would no doubt be amazed and impressed at how far we've come. Today's University is a thriving community of around 38,000 students and colleagues, made up of more than 100 nationalities, and the impact of our work extends far beyond Lancashire. We have forged successful partnerships with institutions as far afield as China and Malaysia, enabling us to bring life-changing opportunities to people all over the world. Our global alumni network numbers more than 200,000 people.

Our Preston Campus completed a £200m transformation in 2021. The brand-new £60 million Student Centre and University Square has now become the thriving heart of our Preston Campus. We've created a stunning space which brings all our second-to-none support services together under one roof. It means that - more than ever - we can give all our students the help they need to succeed at University. We'll be there for them from the moment they arrive until the day they graduate and beyond. Our Student Centre looks out over University Square, which is set to become the focal point of our revitalised campus and a thriving hub of University and community events. There are exciting times ahead.

The National Anthem

The British National Anthem in its present form dates back to the eighteenth century. The words and tune are anonymous, and may date back to the seventeenth century.

'God Save The King' was a patriotic song first publicly performed in London in 1745, which came to be known as the National Anthem at the beginning of the nineteenth century.

In September 1745 the 'Young Pretender' to the British Throne, Prince Charles Edward Stuart, defeated the army of King George II at Prestonpans, near Edinburgh.

In a fit of patriotic fervour after news of Prestonpans had reached London, the leader of the band at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, arranged 'God Save The King' for performance after a play. It was a tremendous success and was repeated nightly.

This practice soon spread to other theatres, and the custom of greeting monarchs with the song as he or she entered a place of public entertainment was thus established.

There is no authorised version of the National Anthem as the words are a matter of tradition. Additional verses have been added down the years, but these are rarely used.

The words used today are those sung in 1745, substituting 'Queen' for 'King' where appropriate. On official occasions, only the first verse is usually sung.

The British tune has been used in other countries. European visitors to Britain in the eighteenth century noticed the advantage of a country possessing such a recognised musical symbol.

In total, around 140 composers, including Beethoven, Haydn and Brahms, have used the tune in their compositions.

All stand to sing:

God save our gracious King!

Long live our noble King!

God save the King!

Send him victorious,

Happy and glorious,

Long to reign over us,

God save the King.

Honorary Awards December 2022

During the graduation ceremonies, the University confers honorary awards on distinguished people who have made significant contributions to their field or who have strong links with the region.

The University is pleased to award Honorary Doctorates to:

Ann Harrison - she receives her award in recognition of the significant contribution made to the development of music business education. The lawyer and author is a consultant at an entertainment law firm and she has been instrumental in planning and delivering some of the biggest deals in modern music. Ann has had a huge impact on the development of music law education at national and international levels while her book is widely regarded as a key text for anyone studying on music related courses. She is also one of UCLan's Leaders in Residence.

Ambassador Enna Park – she receives her award in recognition of the significant contribution made to the higher education sector particularly through raising awareness of the importance of education partnerships between Korea and the United Kingdom. In her 37-year career as a diplomat, Enna took posts at the United Nations plus the Korean Embassies in India and China. She served as Ambassador for Public Diplomacy and it was in her role as Korean Ambassador to the UK that she played a key role in the Korean Embassy's visit to UCLan. Enna was instrumental in UCLan being awarded a special status by the Korean Embassy.

The University is pleased to award Honorary Fellowships to:

Peter Purves - he receives his award in recognition of the significant contribution made in services to television, acting and presenting. His career has spanned more than 60 years and his first notable role was as Doctor Who's companion. His love for the show saw him take part in a recent award-winning UCLan project, in which students and staff remade the lost 1960s Doctor Who episode 'Mission to the Unknown'. He was an iconic Blue Peter presenter for 11 years during its heyday in the 1960s and 1970s and has worked on the famous dog show Crufts for 41 years.

Peter Burdin - he receives his award in recognition of the significant contribution made in services to journalism and the mentoring and training of journalists. During a career which spanned more than 30 years, he was based in Africa for the BBC and delivered exclusive coverage on the death of President Nelson Mandela. Peter, who was raised close to Preston, retired from the BBC in 2016 and now uses his skills to mentor and train young journalists through his own media company. He also became one of UCLan's Leaders in Residence and collaborates with journalism academics.

The University is awarding a Posthumous Honorary Fellowship to:

Ron Atkins – he is being recognised for his dedication to public service and the significant contribution to the development of the University of Central Lancashire. Ron served as MP for Preston North for two terms in the 1960s and 1970s. Until his death in 2020, at age 104, he was the UK's longest living former MP. He served as a Preston City Councillor and was the primary political driving force behind the establishment of Preston Polytechnic in 1984. He later advocated for its evolution to full university status as the University of Central Lancashire in 1992.

Alumni Achievement Awards

The University of Central Lancashire Alumni Achievement Awards have been established to honour and celebrate the achievements of our global University alumni community.

We are proud of our graduates and want to recognise those who have achieved great things. Whether that be in their profession, or through their work within the wider community. This could include charity work or a contribution to business or industry.

The University is delighted to award Alumni Achievement Awards to:

Dr Omolabake Fakunle, PhD, MSc, FHEA

BA (Hons) Business Administration (Top-up)

Omolabake joined the BA (Hons) Business Administration top-up programme, having completed her HND at UCLan's partner institution, Yaba College of Technology in Nigeria, and having 19 years of accountancy, audit, banking and entrepreneurship experience. Following her graduation from UCLan with a first-class degree, Omolabake completed a MSc in Educational Research and PhD in Education, both at Edinburgh University.

Omolabake Fakunle is a Chancellor's Fellow, Director of Equality, Diversity and Inclusion, and Co-Convenor of the Race and Inclusivity in Global Education Network (RIGEN) at the Moray House School of Education and Sport, University of Edinburgh. She is Affiliate Faculty, Centre for Higher Education Internationalisation (CHEI), Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore, Milano. She is a Fellow of the HEA.

Omolabake is a member of the Scottish Funding Council's Tertiary Quality Framework Expert Advisory Group, and The Forum on Education Abroad's Intercultural Think Tank: Desegregating International Intercultural Experience and Domestic Multicultural Relations.

In 2018, she was winner of the Scottish Educational Research Association (SERA) Estelle Brisard Memorial Prize awarded to an early career educational researcher for excellence and promise in their work. She had also won the SERA's 3-Minute Capsule Competition in 2017.

Omolabake's award-winning research examines inclusivity in internationalisation policymaking, processes and practices, focusing on three topics, employability, decoloniality and cultural inclusivity. She widely disseminates her research via journal articles, blogs, and as invited speaker at national and international events.

As a mature international student with children, Omolabake made the sacrifice of leaving her children behind when she started her undergraduate degree. Something she cited as 'inhumane' in an article she wrote for the Times Higher Education. However, she decided she needed to further her study and one of these reasons behind this decision was to inspire her daughters. She wanted to lead by example and show them that women can be all that they want to be. Of course, this was all made possible with the support of her supportive husband and family.

Aaron Briggs

BA (Hons) Sports Coaching

Aaron graduated from the University of Central Lancashire's BA (Hons) Sports Coaching degree in 2008 and went straight to work at Preston North End F.C. in a full-time role as a Performance Analyst, after working with their first team part-time during his final year of study.

Following his time at North End, Aaron spent four seasons at Tottenham Hotspur F.C. where he was offered the opportunity to work with the U18s and progressed to work as Head of Analysis. He then went to Manchester City F.C. to lead the Academy Performance Analyst Department before being promoted to first team Performance Analyst.

Aaron's journey then took him abroad to AS Monaco, where he worked as the Tactical Analyst Coach, before being promoted to Assistant Coach and then to Head of Football Methodology. Aaron currently works as an Assistant Coach at VfL Wolfsburgh in Germany, where he works with the first team. Alongside this, Aaron has been appointed to work with FIFA as a consultant.

Since graduating from UCLan, Aaron has excelled in his profession as a Performance Analyst and a Coach. It is very difficult to progress into positions of power through an academic route and Aaron has navigated his way to being a very influential man in Elite European Football.

Join our Alumni Network

Congratulations

Well done on gaining your qualification and officially graduating with us today.

You'll always be part of the University of Central Lancashire and you now have access to a range of graduate benefits through the UCLan Alumni Network.

Find out more uclan.ac.uk/alumni

We look forward to keeping in touch.

Careers support for life

Help is available from our Careers Team, whether you need it immediately after leaving University or several years later, we're here to support you for life. Careers advice is available in person or online via CareerEDGE or Handshake. You can access a wealth of resources and support including; graduate vacancies, job search support, our online CV builder, online interview practice, aptitude tests, eLearning resources, articles, industry reports and more. We also have a dedicated area on CareerEDGE for those with disabilities and additional needs. To access our careers systems, complete the alumni update form uclan.ac.uk/alumni/join-or-update and tick the 'graduate access to careers systems' box and we'll get you signed up.

Postgraduate study

We can help if you wish to continue your studies at UCLan. You may even be eligible to receive a 20% alumni loyalty discount. In addition to this, you may be able to apply for a UK Government postgraduate loan to help you with continuing your education. Check out your options at uclan.ac.uk/postgraduate

Start-up business support

As a recent graduate, you can access a range of services that will assist you to kick-start and grow a new business. We offer free advice and mentorship for start-up businesses and freelancers, free skills development workshops and networking events, as well as access to business incubation facilities.

For more information see propellerhub.co.uk or contact teampropeller@uclan.ac.uk

Eye tests

Our alumni have access to the University's state of the art Eye Clinic. Eye tests start at just £5 for a thorough eye test and glasses and contact lenses are available at very competitive prices. For more information contact eyeclinic@uclan.ac.uk

Access to the University Library

You can access the University Library and borrow up to four books free of charge. You can also use the Library as a study space if you need some peace and quiet away from home. To gain access, just take two forms of ID (one photo and one address) to the Library during opening hours and they will issue you with a card.

Sports membership

Keep your mind and body healthy with our discounted alumni sports membership. Join our exercise classes, train solo or get personal fitness instruction. There's never been a better time to focus on your health and wellbeing. For more information see uclan.ac.uk/stfsc

Graduate outcomes

All universities are required to ask those who have completed a course to take part in an annual survey to find out what happens to them when they leave. The survey is called Graduate Outcomes and you may be contacted 15 months after you leave UCLan to take part. Owned by HESA (Higher Education Statistics Agency), they will capture your activities, views, achievements and perspectives after graduation – whatever route you take.

Knowing what our graduates do when they leave is extremely important to the University, so we would really appreciate it if you could complete the survey when you receive it.

Always part of UCLan
